

Just as man makes his own light at night, he uses words to make his own light, i.e. his consciousness in the etenally incomprehensible darkness of the world, oil on linen, 80 x 160 x 4 cm